Supervisors Reactivate Better Roads Committee

The Board of Supervisors has voted that a plan be worked out to allow the issuance of revenue bonds, to be retired out of future gas tax revenues, for the building of critically needed major and secondary highways.

The 25-man committee was established in 1935 to recon- sider methods of securing ad- ditional funds to be used for building and improving County roads. Its reactivation was suggested by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

In order to cut down the road deficiency of more than $400,000,000 at that time, the Committee, which was formed at the request of Supervisor Hahn, recommended to the Board of Supervisors that a road bond issue of $165,000,000 be submitted to the people at the 1936 elections.

The committee also suggested that a plan be worked out to allow the issuance of revenue bonds, to be retired out of future gas tax revenues, for the building of critically needed major and secondary highways.

The bond issue proposal was not submitted to the people by the Board of Supervisors, but the suggestion that the County be allowed to issue the revenue bonds was approved. As a result, the State Legislature passed the Street and Road Bond act of 1937, which pro- poses to ratify the Constitu- tion to allow the issuance of road revenue bonds.

This act requires the ratifi- cation of the people of Cali- fornia to become effective, and will appear as proposition number 11 on the November ballot, Supervisor Hahn ex- plained.

Expert Opinion Divided About Freeway Safety

By RICHARDS RICHARDS State Senator

Four more people have lost their lives on a Los Angeles freeway in a head-on collision between inbound and out-bound traffic lanes.

In all but minor details, the latest tragedy on the Hollywood Freeway repeats the pattern of a similar accident on another freeway only a few months ago.

Unfortunately this is a pattern that repeats itself all too often, and again as in the past it raises the question of the effectiveness of solid dividing barriers between in-bound and outbound freeway arteries.

THE STATE Division of Highways takes the position that such barriers, while they eliminate head-on smash-ups, actually lead to more fatal accidents of other types, such as rear-end collisions and side-swipes.

While our state highway engineers can make a good case in support of this position, I have not been convinced by it myself, and highway engineers in some other states have come to quite different conclusions.

Both in New York and in Michigan, solid dividing barriers have been installed after experiences similar to our own with fast-moving traffic on high-speed expressways, so it would appear that opinion is divided even among the experts.

THE PRINCIPAL argument put forward by the State Highway Division is that head-on collisions, particularly those resulting in fatalities, are not many in number, but attract greater attention because of their spectacular nature.

According to figures cited by the Highway Division, there were 307 fatalities on all full freeways throughout the state during 1936 and 1937. Of this total, 50 or 16 per cent, were of the crossed barrier type, while 67 fatalities resulted from accidents involving vehicles traveling in the same direction.

The same authorities also cite the dividing barriers on the Grapevine Grade on U. S. Highway 99, and on a section of the San Bernardino Freeway, where the overall accident rate has increased since the installation of the di- viders.

In spite of this argument, the fact remains that the barriers in question are still standing, and that no plans have been formulated for tak- ing them out.

IN THE 1937 Regular Ses- sion, I introduced a bill to require a least in Los An- geles County, the erection on freeways of a dividing bar- rier "sufficiently effective to deter any vehicle proceeding in the other direction."

Although there was not suf- ficient support to pass this bill, I did obtain the adoption of a Senate resolution direct- ing the Department of Public Work to provide such barriers as soon as it may be eco- nomically feasible to do so.

Artist Will Hold Exhibit Of Paintings

Marian Cummings, Torrance artist, will have an exhibit of her paintings at the Manhat- tan Beach Library, 425 15th St., Manhattan Beach. Open- ing date of the show will be Friday, August 15, ending Au- gust 29.

The paintings will feature recent trip to Idaho, where she was a member of the University of Idaho's "Work- shop on Wheels." An article on the Workshop appeared in the Ford Times—May issue. The paintings were done mostly in McCall, Idaho around the Payette Lakes. There were forty-three artists and three instructors.

Mrs. Cummings did nine paintings, one of which she sold in Idaho. The University of Idaho is having color slides made of her work to use dur- ing lectures in their art classes.

At present, the "Light- house" in Hermosa Beach has one of her paintings on exhi- bition.

Registration For Student Nurses Open

Registration of student voca- tional nurses for the fall ses- sion is now taking place at Harbor Junior College ac- cording to Hazel M. Whedon, Administrative Dean.

This course requires only twelve months to complete and leads to fine opportuni- ties for employment. The first semester is spent at the college and the following seven months at Harbor General Hospital. Upon successful com- pletion of this course and the subsequent passing of the State Board examinations for vocational nurses, the student holds a Vocational Nurse State license and is in great demand both in hospitals and in private practice.

Safe Fun Daily Motto in Area

"Fun With Safety" is the daily motto on South Eleme- ntary District playgrounds, ac- cording to Harry W. Phillips, physical education and youth services supervisor.

The safety program is the same as during the school year with appropriate adapta- tion to summer playground activities. All equipment, ap- paratus, and games have spe- cific safety standards which the director discusses with the children.

Each playground is super- vised by a full-time director and an assistant director. A majority of personnel are ele- mentary school teachers. Par- ent volunteers are always wel- come.

Each playground also has a pupil safety committee spon- sored by the Automobile Club of Southern California, at 223rd Street School according to director Don Heath and as- sistant director Miss Donna Withers. The committee in- cludes: Margie Duggan, Martin Stannich, Gary Lee, Frances Beavers, and Pat Brooks.
